Akruvi Security Plates Pvt. Ltd – Application dated 16/11/07 :- These points are implying that a joint venture in terms of a Technical Collaboration will not be allowed to participate. Why is an equity participation of a foreign company required if an Indian company fulfills all your commercial criteria (net worth, turnover etc)? A long term technical collaboration (including his agreement to stay in the project long term) should be enough. Giving equity participation to a foreign company would give that company total access to all vehicle data which is not the correct procedure in a project which has been implemented for the safety and security of vehicular movement. | The scheme of High Security Registration Plates is implemented for first time. Therefore, not an Indian firm is having experience for providing High Security Registration Plates. Therefore, Joint Venture can solve the purpose. The Joint Venture in terms of technical collaboration will not serve the purpose as in technical collaboration, the liabilities rest with only one firm. But, in Joint Venture all the partners are equally responsible. Hence, the request of the applicant is not considered. |         |

Shimmit Utsch India Pvt. Ltd., letter dated 15/11/07: Point No. 6: It is not practical to charge the consumer on a percentage bases of the whole as there are different sizes and also the Third Licence Plate can not be ascertained to be 10% of the total value of entire set of HSRP. The Third Licence Plate is a very important security feature and the most important component of the HSRP set and its costing is much higher as compared to 10% of the total set. We also request the department to allow the bidder to charge a premium on replacement as there are lot of practical and implementation difficulties for issuance of a replacement plate because of the following points :- <ol style="list-style-type: none"> <li>1. The replacement of number plates by its nature can not be an estimated quantity</li> <li>2. The quantity of number plates require for replacement cannot be ascertain because it would be very volatile in nature and therefore attracting a huge premium on the logistics</li> <li>3. the quantity required for each segment or component is also variable and can not be forecasted therefore an inventory would have to be maintained for each category and all sizes and components adding on to the inventory cost.</li> <li>4. Also the market size would keep reducing as the years pass by as the major change of normal number plates to HSRP would be in the first two years from the date of implementation and because the contract being for fifteen years, we would have to offer the same services to a customer for replacement. Over head cost &amp; maintenance would remain constant throughout adding on to an additional cost per HSRP</li> </ol> | The provision is retained and request for modification is not considered. |         |
